

Rhonda Bodfield

Director of Communications, Government Relations, Tucson Medical Center

Rhonda Bodfield is director of communications and government relations at Tucson Medical Center, where she manages a team that has responsibility for advertising and marketing, media relations, strategic communication around organizational initiatives and government relations. With previous experience supporting communications efforts for Pima County administration, Rhonda also spent more than 20 years in print media with the Arizona Daily Star and the Tucson Citizen. Rhonda, who received a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Arizona, taught beginning and advanced journalism courses at both Pima Community College and the University of Arizona for many years. She continues to freelance for BizTucson Magazine.